A GIFT OF LIFE

While buying, wrapping, mailing or delivering Yuletide presents to friends and relations DON'T overlook a very important gift—a blood donation for a hospitalized patient. It might be the most significant Christmas Gift you could give, reminds the Washington Regional Red Cross Blood Center.

With thousands of persons traveling to spend the holidays with home folks, accidents soar. Fires, snow storms and icy roads account for many serious accidents, increasing the need for additional blood and/or blood components. Besides accident victims, there are other emergencies—bleeding ulcers, heart surgeries and other operations requiring large quantities of blood. These are the unknown but predictable needs.

Continuing daily needs are those of leukemia patients—predominantly children—who must have fresh platelet concentrates to enable them to undergo chemotherapy (using powerful drugs to treat the disease). Platelets, which are separated from the whole

LAST MEETING

One of the most stimulating Foggy Bottom Association meetings in recent memory took place in November with the appearance of the Inner Voices from Lorton Reformatory.

This is a creative expression company founded two years ago by Rhozier Brown, a lifer at Lorton. The group is composed entirely of inmates or men recently released. The skit they presented at the FBA was a chilling illustration of how a young ghetto resident is initiated into the drug world. It was followed by a question and answer session with the audience.

All their material is inmate-conceived, produced and performed. The purpose of the Inner Voices is primarily to educate in the area of drug abuse prevention. They perform in the community and have ap-

To the Treasurer:

I feel that this three bucks is one of my most fruitful investments—F.B.A. deserves support. Since I'm so involved elsewhere, time-wise, I can give you my small monetary contribution. Good luck — and thanks.

LINCOLN CENTER CHAMBER MUSIC SOCIETY BRANCHES OUT TO WASHINGTON

The Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center, under the direction of Charles Wadsworth, will branch out with an initial subscription series in Washington, D.C.

The Washington series, being presented cooperatively by the Society and the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in the new Kennedy Center Concert Hall, is regarded as a pilot program which, if well received, will lead into a permanent affiliation under which the Lincoln Center group will become the resident chamber music organization of Kennedy Center as well.

Three Saturday evening concerts—on December 11th, March 11th and April 8th—comprise the Chamber Music Society's first Washington season, with tickets available at a $5.50 top. All nine of the Society's regular members will participate in the Washington series. In addition there will be distinguished guest artists.

The world-famous Gueneri String Quartet (Arnold Steinhardt, first violin; John Dalley, second violin; Michael Tree, viola; and David Soyer, 'cello) will be guest artists with The Chamber Music Society's pianist Richard Goode and clarinetist Gervase De Peyer for the March 11th Kennedy Center concert, which will offer the Mozart A Major Clarinet Quintet, the Dvorak A Major Piano Quintet and the Beethoven String Quartet, Op. 95.

Violinist Jaime Laredo and pianist Andre Watts will be the guest artists for the final program in the Washington series on Saturday evening, April 8th, both artists performing chamber music for the first time in Washington. Mr. Laredo and Mr. Watts will play the Prokofiev F Minor Sonata for Violin and Piano and will join members of The Chamber Music Society in the Franck Piano Quintet. Watts will also be heard with members of the Society in the Mozart Quintet for Wind Instruments and Piano, K. 452.

THOSE WHO ARE UNSUNG

The many kinds of jobs that make our personal worlds go 'round--the glamorous airline stewardess, the confident and capable pilot, the judge on the bench--these kinds of people attract our attention and comment. But in truth our contact with them is infrequent and fleeting. The attention and recognition we give them are a satisfying reward.

Then there are those who are unsung--the housemaid waiting for the bus at six-thirty on a cold morning, the policeman on the "graveyard" shift, the file clerk, the driver of the late night bus, the girl at the check-out counter, the night clerk at the apartment house desk, the night porter and the cleaning women in the office buildings. For such as these, there is no word of praise. They do their work unsung. But we can give them recognition by a smile, a friendly word and make their and our hearts sing a little.

PORTRAIT OF THE ARTIST

Among the gains made by the Foggy Bottom Association in expanding its boundaries East to 20th Street is Bella Schwartz, a painter who has lived in Foggy Bottom for 25 years.

Born in New York City, Miss Schwartz lived in Colorado and Pennsylvania before moving to Washington. She is a graduate of George Washington University, holding A.B. and M.A. degrees in Economics. She has worked as an economist for the Department of Labor and the National Science Foundation. She studied art at American University and the Institute of Contemporary Arts here in Washington, and at the Instituto Allende in San Miguel de Allende, Mexico. Most recently, she has been studying ceramics at the Hinckley Pottery Studio.

She has exhibited paintings in the Washington area in numerous group and one-woman shows since 1956, and in a group show at the Cisneros Gallery in New York in 1966.

Miss Schwartz is a member of a cooperative art gallery, the Studio Gallery on Connecticut Avenue, and had her paintings on display for three weeks last spring. Her work is non-objective, mainly oil on canvas, although she does some water color and ink. Some of her paintings are still kept in the studio and can be seen upon inquiry from the studio director. The Studio Gallery is open from 11 A.M. to 5 P.M. Tuesday through Saturday, and on Sundays from 2 - 5 P.M. Inquiries can be directed to the Studio Gallery, 1735 Connecticut Avenue, N.W., telephone 265-1165.

"Some years ago it came to me that there was no need to title my paintings, because they were non-objective," according to the artist. "I wanted them to state themselves clearly for what they were and not for some association to something else. Like landscapes, they are simply there. Their subject is color and space, and they are not to be construed as anything else."

Bella Schwartz' macrame necklaces are included in a show of crafts at the Studio Gallery, 1735 Connecticut Ave., N.W., from Dec. 14-31. Other crafts on display include prints, serigraphs, jewelry, enamels, ceramic sculpture and beads.

Her macrame work will also be included in a show of Painters and Graphic Artists at the Art Barn, in Rock Creek Park at Pierce Mill on Broad Branch Road, from Dec. 14 through Jan. 16, 1972. The Art Barn hours are weekdays 1-4 P.M., Saturday and Sunday 10 A.M. - 5 P.M. Another Foggy Bottom resident is among the painters - Virginia Greenleaf Koch, who lives at the Watergate.

blood, are most effective when they are drawn and transfused within twenty-four hours. One of three general type cells found in the blood, platelets are the smallest and most delicate of the three cells. They are separated from the rest of the blood by centrifugation at controlled speed and temperature.

Persons residing in the Foggy Bottom area are especially needed to serve on emergency donor call lists. Donors with negative type blood—O, A, B or AB negative are always needed. With the transient population in the Washington area, emergency lists must be constantly replenished with other donors who are willing to donate in emergencies. When an emergency arises for a particular blood type, proximity to the Blood Center is helpful to respond to the emergency request quickly. Furthermore, it is more convenient to the donors.

The Washington Regional Red Cross Blood Center now routinely screens all donors for the hepatitis associated antigen as an added safeguard to protect patients from serum hepatitis.

Plan to give blood December 23, 27, 28, 29 or 30 at the Center, 2025 E Street, N.W. For convenience in scheduling, make an advance appointment by contacting Red Cross between 9 A.M. and 5 P.M., Monday through Friday, at 857-3767.

Foggy Doings

A big Foggy Bottom welcome to MICHAEL, the brand new son of FBA Board Member DENNIS WILLIAMS. Everyone in the Snows Court house is fine, including mother PAM, but we're not sure about Gemini, the magnificent gray persian cat, who may be suffering a little from the new competition. . . . We also want to welcome to the neighborhood (800 block of 25th) BETHANY ARMSTRONG, who hails from Ottawa and is with the Canadian Embassy.

Sorry to hear about the illness of Eye Street's DICK GARDNER, and wish him a most speedy recovery.

Hats off for the new look to the 25th Street houses of St. Paul's man of many talents, CALVIN WILBON, and his neighbors, the CANNONS and the JAMES'. The spanking new paint, shutters and sidewalk (and missing porches) will be enhanced later, we're told by new shrubs and plantings. . . . And we can't fail to mention how nice the two houses near 25th & H Streets look—a far cry from their temporary boarded-up look!

Hope you'll have time during the busy December days to notice the magnificent holly so plentiful in our neighborhood—The EVANS and JANKA houses on Eye Street, the J. D. ALEXANDERS on 25th, the two red-berried trees at 840-842 New Hampshire, and many more. The pyracantha is beautiful this year, too, especially the SCOFIELDS on New Hampshire and MELITA RODECK's at 25th and H. They're the best kind of Christmas decoration!

My best wishes for all good things in the New Year.

NEIGHBORHOOD PLANNING COUNCIL THIRTEEN

The Mayor's Office of Youth Opportunity Services has announced that Howard Feldman was the victor in the October 23rd Neighborhood Planning Council elections for Area Thirteen.

A lawyer employed at the D.C. Office of Human Rights and residing on 25th St., N.W., Feldman ran in the principal race for Council Adult Chairman against Mrs. Wilhemenia Barrett of L St., N.W. Mr. Edward Garey, a youth from Hopkins Pl., N.W., won the three-way race for Youth Chairman against Miss Paulette Haigler and Miss Lois Barrett.

Neighborhood Planning Council Thirteen, like its 19 sister Councils throughout the city, is responsible for planning, developing, and implementing year-round programs for youth within its geographic boundaries. NPC 13 serves the general Dupont Circle-Foggy Bottom area between Rock Creek Parkway and 16th St., N.W. south of S St.

peared before church and school groups and government agencies, among others, and have twice been the guests of Sen. Edward Brooke on Capitol Hill. Prior to the formation of the group, many of the participants were among the severest disciplinary problems at Lorton. The Inner Voices have helped them turn their negative reactions into something positive.

The Inner Voices have recently opened a house on Ontario Road to enable them to help each other in readjusting to the "outside" world following release. They are very much in need of furniture, kitchen supplies and other items. Anyone having any of these things that they would like to contribute should telephone Archie Childs, days, at 462-6661 or Ann Cunningham at 225-8513 (days) or 338-9426 (evenings).

Either of these people can also provide information on the many self-help groups at Lorton that are in need of assistance from the community.

Two other organizations that welcome assistance from interested citizens are D.C. Concerned Citizens for Criminal Justice (phone Kathy Gillian at 483-8915) and the D.C. Jail Visitation Committee (phone Ann Horvitz at 544-2131). This offers a fine opportunity to let our holiday spirit continue throughout the year.

The rest of the November meeting was devoted to a slide show and discussion of the Metro in Foggy Bottom. John Druckenbrod of Metro and Frank War-am and two engineers from Bechtel Associates participated.
